> An Ideal Location

Between land and sea, to the west of Brittany, the Morlaix and central Finistère area has a particularly high quality of life. Its diversity, the beauty of the local countryside, a magnificent coastline, and an exceptional cultural heritage all contribute to making it an ideal tourist destination. Economically, the area prospers from its rich blend of industrial, commercial, agricultural and tourist businesses, supported by being next to the sea and the wealth of resources it offers (biotechnology). It is ideally suited to business tourism thanks to the proximity of facilities used for seminars and group meetings.

A Solid Economic Hub

Morlaix is in the centre of a region that is very diverse economically. The area has a long history of farming quality fresh veg (artichokes, cauliflowers, shallots, etc.) and rearing livestock. The food processing industry, which works with fresh produce from the land and sea, is another important cog in the local economy. A range of other activities are also dynamic, including fishing, mechanics & metalworks, logistics, transport and construction.

Morlaix and the surrounding area boasts two cutting edge technical centres: Vegenov in Saint-Pol-de-Léon, specialises in the plant world, delivering custom R&D solutions for seed companies, agrochemical companies, farmers and distributors; while CRT Morlaix – equipment managed by CCIMBO Morlaix – provides expertise in metrology, 3D inspection, calibration and managing measurement systems for industrial companies throughout Western France.

44 minutes from Brest and 3 hours from Paris

Nestling between Léon and Trégor, Morlaix is 44 minutes drive from Finistère's main metropolitan hub, Brest. With a new train station, Morlaix is now just 3 hours away from Paris using the TGV train service.

Lively Commercial Sector

Morlaix and Central Finistère are very diverse commercial centres. Morlaix is the 3rd largest commercial hub in the Finistère region after Brest and Quimper. There are also a large number of markets selling local products in the area, very picturesque.

Morlaix Market

> Land that Naturally Fosters Quality of Life

You just need to set out on the GR 34 around Morlaix Bay, or the footpaths around Central Finistère to understand: magnificent landscapes, pristine sandy beaches, rocky coves, the Château du Taureau castle, spectacular gardens... Morlaix Bay is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful bays in the world. Combined with a rich architectural and cultural heritage, and exceptional local cuisine, everything you could need is there for a truly exceptional visit...

Activities for all Tastes

The fine sand of the Bay's pristine beaches provide an ideal backdrop, with a range of nautical activities on offer: surf, kayak, paddle, sailing, land sailing, diving, fishing, etc.

Back on land, there are some spectacular gardens that are well worth a visit, like the île de Batz garden. There is also a golf course close by (nine-hole course with training areas), as well as two casinos and a Thalassotherapy/Wellness centre, all in a setting that combines charming seaside towns with the breathtaking Brittany coastline.

A Rich and Animated Cultural Life

There are also several cultural events that are known nationally: Vieilles Charrues Festival in Carhaix, Panoramas in Morlaix and Fest Jazz in Châteauneuf du Faou.

Art and History

The area has several sites of cultural and historical interest, including the Cairn de Barnenez monument, the streets of Morlaix and its Maison à Pondalez house, the Manufacture des Tabacs (former tobacco factory), the Château de Kerjean and Château de Taureau castles, the Saint-Thégonnec Parish close and the Vorgium archaeological centre in Carhaix, amongst others.

4-star Hotels and Spectacular Cuisine

The area around Morlaix has a rich and varied range of hotels on offer. 4-star hotels, Bed & Breakfasts, open-air accommodation, unusual accommodation on an island... There is an embarrassment of riches to choose from. And if you want top-notch cuisine, you can find Michelin starred restaurants in Carantec, Roscoff and St Pol de Léon.

Research and Education: Unrivalled Strength

The area has a wealth of research and innovation focused around the land and sea, making the Morlaix area an important player in the higher education sector.

Aeronautics, health, marine biology, commerce, agriculture, etc. A wide range of educational courses are available.

Station biologique de Roscoff

Founded in 1872, the Station Biologique de Roscoff is supported by the CNRS and Sorbonne University. This research centre has gained international recognition for its work on marine ecology and biology. It is also a higher educational establishment that trains high level scientists.

Higher Education: from college to post-graduate

The area has a range of different higher education establishments, including two prestigious universities (Université de Bretagne Occidentale and Sorbonne University), two University Institute of Technology departments (civil engineering and Gaco), a nursing college, numerous college BTS courses and organisations such as CCIMBO and the ISFFEL that provide training in commerce, distribution, logistics, packaging and quality control.

The Aeronautic Sector

The national company Air France operates at Morlaix Airport, where it has its national pilot training centre, which is equipped with the latest flight simulators and has a centre for maintaining short-haul planes. In addition, the Lycée Tristan Corbiere college trains students to design and maintain aircraft as part of a BTS diploma course or a Licence Professionnelle degree course.

Business Park and Service Activities

This 9 hectare business park will primarily be dedicated to service activities with a high added value. The site will host and provide quality services to head offices, business centres and training centres, as well as companies working in biotechnology, research and aeronautics. This economic area will offer access and great visibility to companies because of its proximity to the motorway. Work will start on the first projects in 2020.

Advantages of the New Zone

- A premium setting in the major economic eco-system of Morlaix.
- A direct connection to transport infrastructure: airport, main road.
- Innovative architectural design.
- Countryside that is carefully nurtured to ensure a quality environment.
- Multiple business services available (crèche, catering, hospitality, etc.).

Schedule

- > Works batches 1 and 2: June 2019 to June 2020.
- > Batch 1 sales: Autumn 2019.
- > 1st building work: Autumn 2020.
